Ode to the Strawberry-Choco Supreme (Plant-Based Dream)

1.

I once met a treat, oh what a delight,
That sparkled and twinkled in soft evening light.
It wasn't a cake or a pie full of flair—
It jiggled and wobbled with plant-based flair.

2.

Strawberries danced in a coconut sea,
Flirting with chocolate as sweet as can be.
Almond milk whispered, "Let's all blend and play,"
And chia just nodded, "I thicken your way."

3.

Agave showed up with a syrupy grin,
While cocoa said, "Darling, shall we begin?"
They mixed and they mingled with style so grand,
Then chilled like cool hipsters, dessert fully planned.

4.

A blender went VRRRRMMM like a beast in a race,
As berries and tofu got smashed in the face.
Cashews got creamy, the flavors got bold—
It poured like a silk robe in chocolate gold.

5.

A crust made of dates and some oats joined the crew,
Like hippie granola that still knows kung fu.
They stuck it all down with a nut butter glue,
And laughed, "We're dessert, but we're healthy too!"

6.

A sprinkle of salt just to sass up the sweet,
Some zest from a lime to give life a beat.
With elegance formed in a silicon tray,
They chilled in the fridge 'til the end of the day.

7.

When sunset arrived, it was showtime at last,
They strutted out slow, not too fast, oh no—class.
The crowd gasped in awe, forks raised to the sky,
"Who knew a dessert could make grown men cry?"

8.

A carnivore tasted, said, "Wait... what is this?"
No dairy? No butter? No moo-moo or hiss?"
"It's vegan, my friend," the dessert replied,
"Yet still I'm so creamy, you wept when you tried."

9.

A health nut just giggled and broke into song,
"I told you that plants had been cool all along!"
The flexitarians dropped all their doubt,
And licked every spoon 'til the bowl was cleaned out.

10.

The strawberries blushed with their cocoa friend,
"Who knew that true love was this sweet in the end?"
Even the tofu felt warm in its heart—
"This must be dessert... but it's also fine art."

11.

A child yelled, "MORE!" with a mouth full of goo,
"Can I have this instead of my dinner stew?"
The parents just sighed, "Well it's healthy, we guess,"
As their toddler wore chocolate all over her dress.

12.

So here is the tale of that dairy-free dream,
A strawberry-choco-plant-based cuisine.
It jiggled, it thrilled, it made stomachs sing—
Proof that dessert doesn't need wings to be king.
